

TRANS HOME

YOU THINK TRANSLATION WE THINK BRIDGING CULTURES

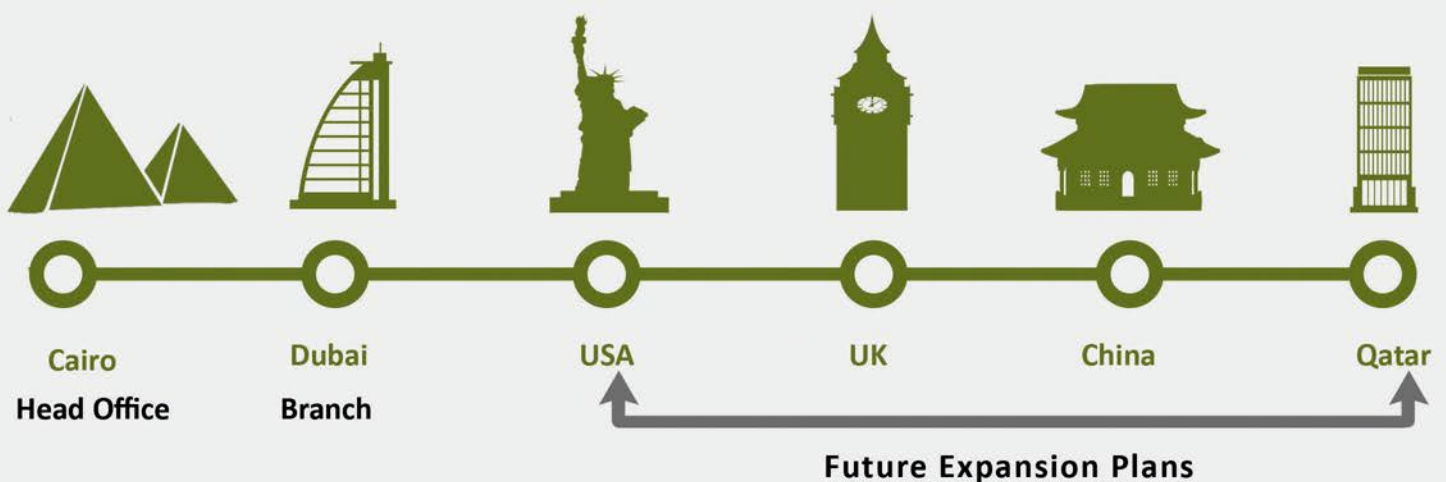

WHO ARE WE?

TRANSHOME was first introduced as a small business venture in Cairo, Egypt with limited functionality focused on translating patents, shipping and legal documents. We later began to streamline the operations by appointing a team of in-house translators and freelancers with different specializations in order to cover the market needs.

Soon, a network of clients was built, and the company established several business ties with diverse corporations. Seeking regional expansion later that year, we decided to move to Dubai with the aim of exploring a multinational hub which naturally requires cultural facilitators.

In November 2011, after spending sincere effort and time studying the nature of the UAE translation market, we established our office in Dubai to act as a one-stop-shop for translation and cultural communication in the region.

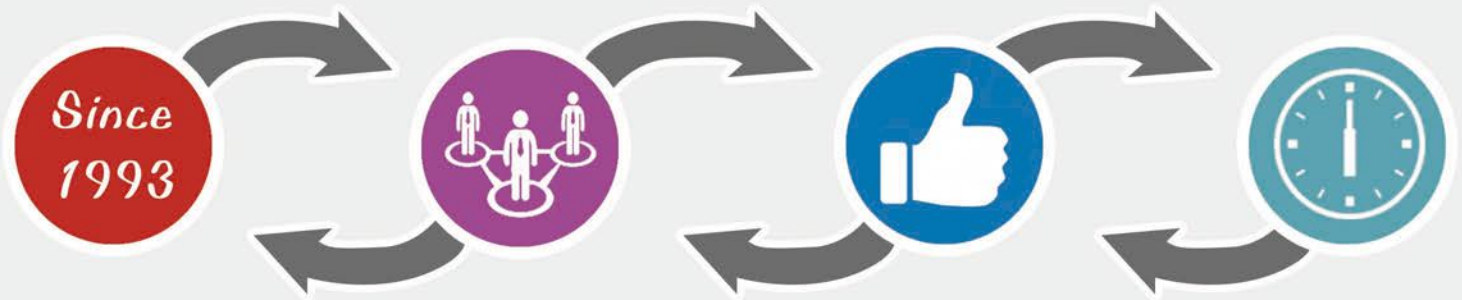

TRANSHOME's ambitious plans target the largest segment of the business community in the UAE, Gulf and MENA regions.

Our expansion plans will be supported with distinguished technical and administrative teams who are highly qualified and dedicated to provide world-class services to our clients.

Media

The world has become a small village due to the great advancements in the telecommunication field. We have distinguished expertise in copyrighting and translating material for diverse audio-visual media channels including but not limited to; magazines, newspapers, advertisements, newsletters, press reports and releases, periodicals and billboards in addition to radio commercials, programs, scripts and announcements.

Legal Translation

We, at Transhome, have profound experience in translating diverse legal documents including various types of contracts, agreements, memorandums of understanding, articles of association and powers of attorney in bilingual formats required for notary public processing, as well as court judgments and briefings of federal and local laws and decrees, court transcripts, summons, pleadings, letters / correspondence, witness statements, official documents (birth / death / marriage certificates), annual reports, legal marketing license registration documents, expert reports, litigations, arbitrations and other types of legal text.

Intellectual Property

We support the field of empirical research and scientific advancements by facilitating and translating patents, trademarks, research papers, specialized journals, academic publications and references.

Literature

We believe in the significance of literary art and its impact on different cultures regardless of the geographical boundaries that separate them. Our expertise include sharing the pieces of art among the different nations through the translation of books, novels, poetry, prose and short stories.

Field Oriented Translation

We also have profound experience in translating diverse documents that are generated through different fields of practice such as law, trade, accounting (chartered and non-chartered), banking, auditing and medicine including but not limited to contracts, agreements, memos, laws, judgements, briefings, powers of attorney, balance sheets, financial statements, profit and loss documents, fund prospectuses, accounting articles, ledgers, tender specifications, shipping and freight documents, financial reports, economic reviews, technical writing, medical reports and research.

OUR SERVICES

Information Technology & The Internet

We always seek to keep up with the latest trends in the field of technological advancements, and we are always keen on sharing them with our clients. We provide translation of technical policies and manuals including but not limited to; IT infrastructure, IT security, networks, automated enterprise architectural structures, tailored systems, arabization systems, website localization, service level agreements, wireframes, detailed functional specifications and IT non-disclosure agreements.

Interpretation

Managing Events: Provide interpretation services in conferences, seminars, forums, training courses, round tables and one-on-one meetings.

Distance Interpretation: Third party conversations and teleconferencing interpretation services are provided in a professional manner and according to an accurately planned agenda.

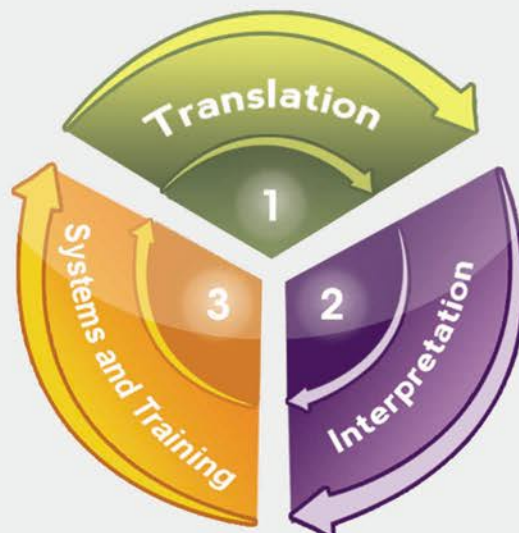

Equipment Lease: We provide interpretation equipment for events.

"Translation is not a craft, a profession or just another mean to make ends meet. Translation is an art, a passion and a message. The word translation is derived from the Latin origin /translatio/ which means "to bring across". This is exactly what we do at TRANSHOME. We bring the message across diverse cultural and lingual barriers, and we bridge the gaps between different mindsets. Our motivation fuels our capabilities and our dedication compels us to provide our clients with world class service. Excellence and total quality management are integral parts of our administrative principles which draw the guidelines for better serving the translation, interpretation and training needs of our clients ."
